Good morning,

I just wanted to bring something to everyone's attention, over the last 30 days at Joe's we have had three armed robberies and a breaking and entering into one of our main offices, these crimes mainly happened in your BID areas. Comparing that to over the last three years we have only had one robbery. Not to mention more break ins of vehicles, homeless encampments (not to associate it with the actual crimes) and other criminal activities, etc...

I am reviewing our policies and procedures to see what we've done differently in the last 30 days that may have contributed to this? We have hired on and created an internal position, Director of Security and are constantly adding in more security measures, but last night we were robbed again at gunpoint, I truly am starting to fear that one of our employees will eventually be shot.

Let me know if anyone has any recommendations and who would be my best contact at LAPD to discuss these issues with too as well if anyone has that?

Thanks,

Kevin Litwin
